Flu, Pneumonia & Upper Respiratory Illnesses. . .

As flu season approaches and we begin to see upper respiratory infections, flu and pneumonia in our community, our nursing and rehabilitation departments are prepared to help individuals regain their strength, endurance and functional mobility following a bout of flu or pneumonia.

Stroke, Parkinson's Disease or other Neurological Complications. . .

For patients with a history of stroke, Parkinson's Disease, or other neurological disorders, upper respiratory infections, flu or pneumonia attacks can result in significant functional decline. Through an intensive program of physical and occupational activities, paired with nursing interventions, our nursing and rehabilitation programs can help return patients to their former level of independence and activity.

'Tis the Season. . .
